GREASED RAILS CAUSE WRECK

Motorman and Conductor Injured at Steep Grade at Nauck

HUNDREDS WALKING

Passengers on Electric Trains From Alexandria Reach Twelfth Street Station Washington on Time

Hundreds of persons walked through the slush on the Virginia hills and roads to Georgetown this morning, because of lack of car service or sympathy with the striking car men of the Virginia lines.

Men and women, coming to Washington to work from points in Fairfax and Loudoun counties came in every conceivable kind of conveyance that could be pressed into service.

Hayricks, farm wagons, and motor trucks were pressed into passenger service.

They were all loaded before they reached the Aqueduct bridge.

Conditions on the lines from lower Virginia of the Washington-Virginia Company, where service is being maintained, were not so bad, patrons reaching the 12th street terminal o ntime.

Traffic on the Washington and Old Dominion lines reaching westward as far as Bluemont in Loudoun county, still is tied up.

But one train is moving on the Bluemont division, it was learned. This is the mail and express, due early this morning. It is being brought in by a crew of office and shop employes, it is declared. They took out the mail from Washington to Bluemont yesterday.

Not a train has been operated over the Great Falls division of the Old Dominion lines since the strike was called yesterday. Many residents along the line came in this morning in wagons, and others in jitneys that sprang into life overnight with the stopping of car service.

A wreck on the Nauck division of the Washington-Virginia Company occurred last night. Company officials declare that the rails on a steep grade at the Nauck terminal were greased, and that this caused the wreck. The alleged track greasing is believed to be the work of sympathizers rather than the strikers.

At Nauck, south of Arlington, the line ends on a steep grade. A car going down to the terminal was unable to stop and ran off the rails and down a bank. A second car was sent out to pull the first back to the tracks.

It started down the grade, and could not be stopped, the brakes refusing to hold. It crashed into the first car, smashing both of them and injuring the motorman and conductor Superintendent Rich says they were old and experienced employes of the company.

"A reward of $500 was offered by officials of the Washington-Virginia railroad this morning for information leading to the identity of persons who greased the rails."

MOLASSES ENGULFS HER.

Youth Tries to Rescue Young Woman And Both Fall in Sticky Stream.

New York. April 8.— Miss Margaret O'Leary, was walking past a 3rd avenue bakery last night just as a truckman was unloading a hogshead of molasses. The barrel burst and the young woman was engulfed almost to her shoe tops. When she tried to pass on her feet struck to the sidewalk. A youth who went to her assistance lifted her bodily out of the molasses, but he stumbled and both fell into the sticky stream.

At this juncture the police were called upon for aid. A patrolman was sent to the rescue and bridged the molasses with a plank. The board dammed the stream and perched upon it the officer dragged to safety the young woman and her would-be rescuer.

MORE SHIPS SUNK

Sent to the Bottom Without Warning it is Alleged.

London, April 8—Three steamships were sunk yesterday by mines or submarines. Another was badly damaged and is being towed to port. No lives were lost.

The French coast steamer St. Hubert, of 216 tons, was torpedoed. The crew was rescued.

The vessel was unarmed, and was sent to the bottom without warning, according to unofficial reports.

Twenty French fishermen reached land yesterday in a small open boat. They reported the sinking of their vessel, the Jeannette.

The third victim was the Danish steamer St. Jerneborg. She was sunk off Cagliari. The crew was saved.

A dispatch states that the Dutch steamer Eemdyjk passed the Isle of Wight yesterday in tow. The nature of the accident to her has not been ascertained. It is said she was low in the water. The Eemdyjk was bound from Baltimore to Rotterdam.

Eleven Chinese members of the crew of the Peninsular and Oriental liner Simla, whose sinking in the Mediterranean was reported, lost their lives.

MISS GARMONG'S SUIT

Alleged Henderson Told Her to Throw Her Baby out of the Window.

Bangor, Maine, April 8.—In the trial of the suit of Elizabeth Garmong against John B. Henderson, of Washington, to recover $250,000 for breach of promise, plaintiff yesterday continued her testimony, begun on Thursday.

She described her last meeting with Henderson—the meeting at which she claims, he definitely broke his promise of marriage, finally exclaiming: "I'll marry when I feel like it, and I won't marry the Queen of Sheba unless I do."

Then she told of following him to Bar Harbor in the summer of 1911, and quoted as his final message to her—a message she says was delivered by telephone: "I will do nothing more. Take your baby to hell, or throw it out of the window."

She said that she had caused the arrest of Roscoe D. Smith, a young Des Moines physician, on the charge of seducing her—that he made no denial, and offered to "settle," but later, on redirect examination, she denied having taken any of his money, or having asked him to marry her.

TWO KILLED BY TORNADO.

Number of Houses Blown Down in Gentilly Subdivision, on Outskirts of New Orleans.

New Orleans, April 8.—Two persons were killed, several others injured and a number of houses were blown down in the Gentilly subdivision on the northern outskirts of the city, during a heavy rain and windstorm early yesterday. Arthur H. Foley, was crushed to death and his wife seriously injured when their bungalow was demolished. A portion of the Colored Industrial Home was blown down, killing a negro girl and injuring six other inmates. The property damage in Gentilly, which apparently was struck by a small, tornado, was estimated at $40,000.

The wind's maximum velocity in the city proper was 25 miles an hour, no damage being reported.

HOW SUNDAY GETS MONEY.

This is a good one told on Billy Sunday, the famous evangelist, who is just now stirring up Baltimore. The story shows that Billy is not only an evangelist of unusual talent, but a past master in the art of making the public loosen up with the change. Mr. Sunday started to preach one day, and during his sermon, he made reference to the fact that the collection on the preceding evening had not been up to the mark.

"I know a man in this audience," shouted the evangelist, "who is sitting by the side of another man's wife, and, if that man don't put a five dollar bill in the plate when it gets to him, I'll call him out before this whole aggregation." It is related that Billy meant what he said, too, and looked fierce and waved his arms and whirled around as if he were batting out a home run.

When the collection was taken that day two hundred and fifty, five dollar bills were found in the plates.

PLOT TO KILL ALL EUROPEAN RULERS

Investigation of the Crones Case Reveals Gigantic Plan

ANARCHIST SQUEALS

Czar and Kaiser Head List—Lots Drawn for the Purpose of Picking The Assassins.

Chicago, April 8—Existence of an international anarchistic plot to assassinate all rulers of Europe has been discovered here, according to a formal statement issued by Maclay Hoyne, State's Attorney of Cook county.

The alleged plot was unearthened by the State's Attorney's men while investigating the activities of Jean Crones, suspected poisoner of the guests at the banquet in honor of Archbishop Mundelein in February.

The State's Attorney said that a list of the proposed assassinations was headed by the Czar of Russia and that Emperor William was second on the list.

According to the information which reached the States Attorney, the plot was known to anarchists in various cities in America, as well as in Europe. One man from each city was believed to have been delegated to the work of assassination.

Mr. Hoyne said that a written statement had been made to him by an anarchist baring the details of the alleged plot.

Officials said the headquarters of the band of conspirators was in the downtown district and that there were branches in other cities. According to Mr. Hoyne's information, the Mundelein banquet poisoning was planned by the group which sought the death of the European rulers.

The State's Attorney refused to divulge the identity of the man who revealed the alleged plot and said that his investigators are seeking to confirm the statements.

"This man said that secret meetings have been held in Chicago and a number of other cities,' said Mr. Hoyne. "He said he attended a meeting in this city at which lots were drawn for the purpose of picking the assassin, and that the meetings were so guarded that only the man chosen for the crime and the leader of the individual group knew the particular ruler singled out."

The assasins were to use poison, according to the Prosecutor's information. Bombs were not be used unless it was "absolutely necessary". Mr. Hoyne said he was told.

The anarchist who supplied the information is not under arrest, but the State's Attorney said he could easily reach him whenever he wanted him.

The information given to the State Attorney is expected to be turned over to Federal authorities.

The Prosecutor said his informant intimated that secret meetings had been held in New York at about the time of the Chicago meeting.

PUSHED UNDER TROLLEY

Loses Legs When Surging Crowd Throws Him Under Wheels

Philadelphia, April 8—Several women fainted and passengers in the car were on the verge of a panic, last night, when Edward Connolly, 16 years old, was pushed under a trolley at Fifty-second and Market streets by a surging crowd, and suffered the amputation of his legs just above the ankle. The cries of the victim as he lay under the wheels unnerved the crowd, and no one volunteered to extricate him.

Policeman Hayes was attracted by the cries of the panic-stricken crowd, and, with the aid of the trolley crew carried young Connolly to a nearby store. The boy was then rushed to the West Philadelphia Homeopathic Hospital, where the physicians found it necessary to amputate the crushed foot and ankle. Because of the large amount of blood lost his condition is serious.

With more than a score of men and women, young Connolly was standing on the northwest corner of the street intersection waiting for a southbound Bala car. As the trolley approached bystanders said, the crowd surged forward and the boy was pushed under the wheels. Several women who saw the accident fainted, while passengers in the trolley, believing someone had been killed, rushed for the doors. It was with considerable difficulty that quiet was restored.

200,000 GERMANS SLAIN AT VERDUN

French Military Authorities Check Up Teuton Casualties

CORPS CUT TO PIECES

Eighty Battalions Sent to Rear for Reorganization—Later Returned to Renew Battle.

Paris, April 8.—The German losses before Verdun up to the present time have reached the huge total of 200,000 men, one of the greatest battle losses in the whole range of warfare, according to estimates made public here from a semi-official source —"the result of careful inquiry made in the highest quarters in which the figures have been rigorously checked and verified.

"Documentary and verbal testimony gathered and authenticated permit the giving of precise details concerning the losses suffered by the Germans and by us on the Verdun front," says the semi-official communication given to The Associated Press. "During the period from February 21, when the battle began to April 1, is known that two army corps, namely the Third and the Eighteenth, have been withdrawn from the front, having lost in the first attacks at least one-third of their force. They have reappeared since and have again suffered like losses.

"The German reinforcements are practically used up as fast as they are put in line. The total effectives of the eighteenth Corps have in this way lost 17,000 men and the Third Corps has lost 22,000 men.

"Concerning the One Hundred and Twenty-first division, which took possession of North Vaux about March 12, we have precise information, More than one half of the Seventh Regiment of its reserves was put out of action by our machine guns in the ineffectual attack against the slope of the fort. The Sixieth Regiment met similar losses, of which the total reached 60 per cent. of the regiment's effectives.

"The Nineteenth German Infantry had already suffered similar losses in attacking the village of Vaux on March 9. Its Thirteenth Company was surprised and annihilated. In entering the village houses its first battalion was reduced 60 per cent.

"Three regiments of the Eleventh Bavarian Division, which led the attack on the Malancourt and Avocourt woods on March 20 and 22, were each reduced by one-half. Their losses varied between 50 and 60 per cent. The same is true of the losses of the Fourth Regiment of the Second Division of Landwehr engaged under similar conditions.

"Summarizing during the 40 days, February 21 to April 1, the Germans had on the Verdun front from Avocourt to Eparges, exactly 239 battalions of infantry, representing a minimum of 1,075 companies of infantry, besides 23 battalions of engineers of three companies each, which gave an aggregate of 1,144 companies fully reinforced, the companies varying from 260 to 280 men. The assaulting army therefore represented at least 295,000 infantry alone.

"Since February 21 the reinforcements have been frequent and heavy. At least 80 battalions have been sent to the rear to be reconstituted. Others have received their reinforcement on the field. It is, therefore nearly 450,000 infantry which have appeared upon the firing line, and this estimate is even under the mark.

"Declarations gathered from prisoners and our own observations lead us to estimate at least one-third of the total force engaged as the minimum losses of the German infantry up to April 1. It is therefore, 150,000 men who have fallen solely upon the first battle line.

"But the German losses do not stop there, In a modern battle, long-range guns reach far behind the first line striking lines of communication and the quarters of troops. As the range of the artillery lengthens, the zone of destruction behind the battle line increases proportionately. The German artillery, literally piled up in the wood suffered losses comparable with those of the infantry. Finally, our heavy artillery reached supply camps and innumerable convoys to the rear.

"We arrive thus, keeping within a most moderate estimate, at upward of 200,000 men as the figures of our enemy's losses before Verdun."

VIRGINIA NEWS

J. Edward Lanier, 38 years old, wealthy and prominent, after wounding his wife with a bullet at their home in Chatham Thursday night, blew his own brains out. Mrs. Lanier will probably recover. She has a flesh wound in the breast.

Gilbert B. Stephens, a private of the marine corps, died at the Naval Hospital at Norfolk, Thursday evening as the result of an accident on board the battleship Vermont. He was crushed between the jaws of a clam bucket while assisting in cooling the ship.

Word that H. Kinard Smith, brother of Mrs. C. W. Doughtie of Norfolk, was drowned in Martinez creek in Honduras, when a gasoline car in which he was riding on the Pela railroad was derailed by striking an alligator which had crawled out on the track has been received by Mrs. Doughtie.

Norfolk's old political organization regained complete control of the city government by securing the nomination in yesterday's primary of Mayor Windham Mayo, for Mayor, William M. Hannan for Board of Control and 15 of the 25 Councilmen. Capt. Mayo's majority over Leon C. Steele, Citizen's party candidate for Mayor, was 470.

Waterlogged and partly submerged, being kept afloat by its cargo of railroad ties, the American schooner Charles A. Campbell, bound from Fernandina to New York, has been abandoned at anchor 75 miles southeast of Cape Henry, and Captain Pearce, his wife and two children and crew of 15 men have landed at Old Point Comfort.

Miss Julia Layman was bitten by a dog near Oakwood, Rockingham Co. She sent at once for a noted madstone in Augusta county and had the stone applied to the wound, as a precaution against rabies. She is the second person in the community to try the madstone. Sixteen persons who were bitten by a mad dog at Harrisonburg in February, took the Pasteur treatment.

County Coroner H. W. Foertmeyer and Police Chief William Copeland of Cincinnati are in a quandary as the result of two requests by Virginia women for the body of Charles A. Davis, reputed to have been a Charlottesville druggist, recently found in a dying condition in one of this city's alleys' with a crushed skull. It is believed here that Davis was drugged before his skull was crushed.

Fears that Dr E. E. Supplee and wife, who moved to City Point, Va., last October, met death by drowning were increased yesterday when a canoe was washed ashore near Curies Neck farm on the James River. The boat was purchased last Saturday in Richmond by Dr. Supplee, and it is thought the couple intended to row to City Point. A hat bearing the initials "E. E. S." was found near the boat.

Mrs. Hugh Blizzard and her seven-year-old daughter were killed by lightning last night at Arcadia, fifteen miles from Bristol. They were hurrying to the spring near their home to get some water while the storm was brewing. The child was running along holding her mother's hand with ont hand, and with her other hand on a wire clothes line which was struck by the lightning, the charge killed both of them.

John Henry Williams, the negro charged with making an infamous attack on Miss Mamie Mason, of Nottoway, was positively and unmistakably identified in the Henrico county jail yesterday by her brother and sister, both of whom were with her when she started to school one week ago yesterday. They picked Williams out from a number of other prisoners. They were absolutely positive in their identification, having first furnished a good description of the man to the officers before they had a chance to see him.

FRENCH REPULSE GERMAN ATTACK

Teutons Leave Many Dead Scattered Over Battle Field

HAND GRENADES USED

Artillery Engagements Alone Are in Progress on the Remainder of the Western Front.

The region northwest of Verdun around Haucourt and between Bethincourt and hill 265 is still the scene of sanguinary encounters between French and Germans.

Continuing their various counter-attacks on the opsitions taken by the Germans between Bethincourt and hill 265, the French, with the use of hand grenades, have recaptured additional positions of lost ground and in addition made progress in communicating trenches.

Around Haucourt the Germans launched a violent attack against the French, previously having prepared the way by a heavy bombardment lasting several hours. The French however, through the use of their curtain of fire and rapid-fire guns, put down the attack and forced the Germans to retreat, leving numerous dead on the ground as they made their way back to their trenches.

On the remainder of the front in France and Belgium, artillery engagements alone have been in progress.

On the eastern front, there has been a continuation of the lively artillery engagements in the lake region south of Dvinsk, especially about Lake Naroez, where the Russians succeeded in occuping portions of German trenches. The artillery on both sides also has been busy around Riga and Friedrichstadt, and in East Galicia.

The Austrians have captured from the Italians a ridge north of Monte Cristobal, and in the operation took a number of prisoners and captured two machine guns. Attacks by Italians in large force north of the Sugana valley were repulsed, according to Vienna.

Flood conditions along the Tigris River again are hampering the British force, which is endeavoring to make its way up the river to the relief of the British force beleaguered in Kut-el-Amara.

In the Caucasus region near the Black Sea, coast the Russians have captured Turkish positions along the Karadere River, and inland along the Upper Teboruk River continue their progress against the Ottomans, notwithstanding the wet and heavy snow.

The French in a grenade attack, have retaken portions of trenches captured from them by the Germans between Bethincourt and hill No. 265, northwest of Verdun, and made progress in communicating trenches in the same region, according to an official communication. A German attack over a front of about a mile and a quarter around Haucourt was repulsed.

HONORS ARE DIVIDED

Alexandria High School and Herndon High School in Interscholastic Contest

The Young People's Building last night was the scene of a debating and reading contest between Alexandria High School and Herndon High School. The 1st half of the program consisted of a reading contest in which Mr. Albert Bryan and Miss Evelyn Howard were the representatives o fthe Alexandria while Miss Ruth Lukens and Mr. Hugh Hutchison were the representatives from Herndon. Following is the order in which they read and the name of their selections:

Miss Evelyn Howard: Sir Galahad, Tennyson.

Miss Ruth Lukens: A selection from Bird's Christmas Carol.

Mr. Hugh Hutchison: Sandalppon, Tennyson.

Mr. Albert Bryan, The Murdered and his Secret, Webster.

Following this the young ladies were asked to read with five minutes preparation "The Marshes of Glynn". The young men were asked to read in the same manner, "Washington's Address to his Army."

Herndon won out in both of these events, the judges deciding that Miss Lukens was the winner of the girl's contest and Mr. Hutchison, the winner of the boy's.

The next half of the program was occupied with the debate subject of which was "Resolved that the Federal government should co-operate with the states in maintaining post roads and rural delivery routes."

The Alexandria High School representatives had the negative of this question and the Herndon representatives, the affirmative. The names of the speakers are as follows:

Negative, 1st. Miss Anna Haslett.
2nd. Ashby Bladen.

Affirmative, 1st. John Ankers, 2nd Miss Martha Taylor.

Both debating teams are to be complimented on the way the question was handled but the judges finally decided in favor of the negative.

The winning team will figure in a contest at Charlottesville, Va., to determine the best debaters in the state.

The judges in both contests were Rev. Mr. Jackson, of this city; Mr. Minor, of the Y. M. C. A., Washington, D. C., and Dean Ulm A. Wilbur, dean of English in the George Washington University, Washington, D. C.

WOMAN KILLED IN RUNAWAY

Miss Fannie Hutchison of Washington Jumps Out of a Carriage and Fractures Skull

Factious horses conveying a party returning to Vienna from a funeral at Fairfax on Wednesday at noon overturned a two seated carriage at Oakton and caused the instant death of Miss Fannie Hutchison daughter of W. H. Hutchison of Chantilly and sister of W. C. Hutchison of Vienna Other members of the party were bruised and shaken up but not seriously hurt.

The funeral was that of the eleven-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hutchison of Vienna. The parents their daughter Kathleen, Miss Hutchison and Wilbur Pettit, the driver were in the carriage coming home. As they passed the Oakton school a number of children at play rushed toward the vehicle and frightened the horses. They reared and plunged, breaking the carriage pole and overturning the vehicle, which was dragged for some distance upside down, the occupants being in the cover, and then righted itself. Miss Hutchison jumped at the first intimation of danger and fell headfirst into the road, breaking her neck and fracturing her skull, dying without recovering consciousness. Wilbur Pettit and Mr. Hutchison also jumped out and attempted to hold the horses, and succeeded in quieting them near the Oakton blacksmith shop. The carriage was a complete wreck. Mrs. Hutchison and her daughter were both caught by the feet in the wreckage and dragged a considerable distance, when in some way they became freed. Mrs. Hutchison suffered a sprained foot and Kathleen was scratched and bruised, but had no bones broken. Mr. Pettit had two figers broken and Mr. Hutchison escaped unhurt.

LENTEN LECTURES

Mrs. Clara Bewick Colby, of Washington, D. C., will on Thursday, April 13th, at 8 p. m. lecture on "Florence Nightingale" in the Sunday school room of the Grace Church for the benefit of Whatsoever circle of king's daughters.

Mrs. Colby is well known as a lecturer both in this country and aboard. Her repetoire covers a wide field and includes all that is foremost and best in the world's thought of today. The subject of "Florence Nightingale." is peculairly fitting just at this time of the church year, and, too when the great work this famous nurse inaugurated stands so conspicious for good in the awful ravages of the European war.

Therefore it is to hoped that a large audience will hear Mrs. Colby's interesting lecture. No admission fee is asked, but a silver offering may be left at the door. 6-8-12.

"THE SPIRIT OF THE AGE"

Mrs. Sallie Ould Donaldson Delivers Address Before Cameron Club Last Night.

Mrs. Sallie Ould Donaldson, daughter of the late Judge Ould of Richmond, presented the subject of "Preparedness" or "the Spirit of the Age" in a most brilliant and forceful address last night before the Cameron Club.

It was masterful marshaling of facts and presentation of conditions, that were too eloquent to need emphasis. In part she said, "the world for the third time is cast into the melting pot, the first casting was the Reformation, the second was the French Revolution and the third, is the great struggle taking place in Europe. In the Columbus raid the guns would not go off, the telephones would not communicate and the soldiers were not on guard. Heretofore, the ocean was considered a barrier now it is recognized to be a great highway. We have eight battleships, the fastest slower than the slowest British. On the flag that our fore-fathers flung to the breeze and for which they gave their lives were emblavoned the words freedmon and liberty, are we to loose that priceless heritage, through our supineness? Will not the women's supineness? Will not the women urge the men to that degree of preparedness that will insure the safety of their country, their children and their homes?

WILL BOYCOTT ROAD

Cherrydale Citizens Will Aid Strike of Railway Men

Though a general strike of all union employes of the Washington and Virginia Railway was called Thursday, only the Falls Church division had been affected up until a late hour last night.

Frank L. Ball Commonwealth attorney of Alexandria County, was the principal speaker at a mass meeting held in Ballston yesterday afternoon

Members of the Cherrydale Citizens' Association will aid the strike of employes by boycotting the Washington and Old Dominion Railway Company. This action was decided at a meeting of the association last night. The boycott agreement states:

"We also refuse to ride upon the cars of this company until the strike is settled."

The Rev. Thomas Lamont, one of the oldest clergymen in the New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died yesterday in New York, at his home at the age of 84 years. He was ordained in 1859 and his active work as a clergyman covered a period of 60 years.

TOO MANY SPECIAL DAYS.

In medieaval times we are told that the number of holy days had been multiplied until every day in the calendar was regarded as sacred The Danville Register utters a cry of alarm in consequence of the increasing number of special days in the state of Virginia. This paper says it seems that the tendency to set apart special days by semi-official methods for special purposes is being carried rather too far. We have had Mother's Day and Arbor Day and Tag Day and Rally Day, besides all the birthdays of patriots, soldiers and statesmen until one is confused by the very multiplicity of the special commemorations of various days. In this connection we would add that we have just received from the office of the governor of Virginia copies of two proclamations, setting apart two days, one to be known as Road Day and the other as Country Church Day in Virginia. Thursday, May 4th, is Road Day, and the public generally are urged to co-operate with the road superintendents, road boards and boards of supervisors, to that the work contributed may be done in accordance with an established system or plan. The other day, Country Church day, is Sunday May 1th, on which date a large attendance at rural houses of worship is being urged.

It should be explained that the governor is not responsible for these special day proclamations. Instead he is merely acting in obedience, to a statute recently enated. Perhaps the observance of both of these days may do some good, possibly a great deal of good; but it is not the province of the State government to be proclaiming such days and requiring the governor to issue his proclamation. These efforts to enlist community or State interest should be advocated through civic organization and the medium of the press and not through official governmental channels. It is no part of the duty of the governor to be issuing special appeals to the people to go to church on specified days. If the tendency to proclamations is maintained, the governor and his clerical force will be kept busy preparing and issuing such proclamations. The cost of printing, stationery and postage will become an item, if the number of special days be further enlarged.

WORDS, WORDS, AND ONLY WORDS.

That was a very noble sentiment which the Colonel Roosevelt gave utterance when he remarked:

"Uncle Sam must never wrong the weak. He must never insult anyone or wantonly give cause for offense to either the weak of the strong."

If Mr. Roosevelt really holds to this view the Philadelphia Record asks why did he take advantage of the weakness of Colombia to wrest from her the isthmus of Panama? He boasted of that performance in his frank statement that he took the isthmus first and let Congress do the talking afterwards. It is not conceivable that he would have acted thus if the strip of land he coveted for the canal had belonged to Great Britain Germany or some other powerful nation. It was because Colombia was so weak and helpless that he was quick to seize upon the trumped-up revolution in Panama as an excuse for depriving the former country of valuable territory, for which the United States has never made compensation.

He advocates a vigorous policy also against Mexico, which must surely be considered a very weak nation.

When the Colonel was in power it was the big stick all the time, for "malefactors of great wealth" at home and for smaller nations abroad. Now that the Presidential conventions are approaching he is full of soft words and lofty ideals. Words, words, nothing but words. The American public ought by this time to be able to appraise them at their true value.

CECIL REPLIES TO CHANCELLOR

Lord Robert Cecil, British minister of war trade, makes a sharp reply to the speech in the German reichstag of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German imperial chancellor.

Among other things he says:

"These periodical speeches in the reichstag are cunning blends of bombast and peaceful protestations. Through them all runs the deliberate design to nourish German hatred of England above all her allies, to bolster the fiction that the German government is fighting a defensive war and to forestall and prevent that which the German government most fears—a popular demand in Germany for peace.

A dispatch from Rotterdam says:

In a counter-blast to the German chancellor's Reichstag speech, the so-called "German Humanity League" has issued a manifesto, urging all Germans in neutral states to strive to the uttermost to deliver Germany from the domination of the "savage and brutal militarism of Prussia."

The manifest charges that the German government has broken "every rule of civilized communities, diplomatic honesty and international obligations," and is responsible "for the colossal carnage of domestic grief, financial ruin and economic misery, which, like a nightmare from hell, distracts the German people."

This government, the manifesto concludes, "is now exposed as the murderer of the bravest soldiers of the nation at Verdun."

THE CHANCELLOR'S SPEECH

(Philadelphia Record)

The value of the Chancellor's speech cannot be properly estimated without going back over the history of three years. In the early weeks of 1913 Sir Edward Grey was trying to avert a general European war resulting from the overturn in the Balkans In that he had the hearty assistance of Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, who spoke in the highest terms of Sir Edward's labors to preserve the peace.

But the result of Servian successes over Turkey was an altogether unprecedented military budget presented by the present Chancellor, who explained to the Reichstag that "if it should ever come to a conflagration in which the Slavs would be ranged on one side and the Germans on the other, this newly-developed vitality of the Slav in the Balkans would be a disadvantage to Germany, as they would hold the balance of forces in that quarter which had hitherto been occupied by Turkey, and it is therefore the duty of Germany to provide against such a contingency. The Pan-Slavist movement has received a powerful stimulus from the victories of the Slav States in the Balkans.

Under the inspiration of that speech the military budget was increased $50,000,00 a year, a non-recurring tax for military purposes of $250,000,000 was levied, and about 135,000 men were added to the German army. In August Austria proposed to Italy to make an attack upon Servia, but Italy refused, and Austria deferred action.

In June the assassination of the Austrian Arch Duke afforded the desired pretext, and an ultimatum was sent to Servia such as no nation ever before addressed to another, with a time limit of only 48 hours. Servia abjectly assented to every Austrian demand but one, and did not reject that, but desired to discuss it. Austria declared the reply unsatisfactory and at once moved its troops against Servia.

Sir Edward Grey renewed the efforts for a peaceful adjustment he had made a year and a half before, but this time he did not have the support of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg. Germany declined to put any pressure on Austria, insisting that the controversy with Servia concerned no other nation. England, France, Italy and Russia tried to get a conference of the Powers or any other measure that Germany might suggest that would avert, or that might possibly avert, war, but Germany confined its peace efforts to Petrograd London and Paris; it made none in Vienna, and neither Berlin nor Vienna has published the correspondence between the two. Finally Germany attacked Russia while Austria was indicating in Petrograd a willingness to resume diplomatic negotiations. Almost simultaneously Germany moved against France by way of Belgium.

It is only in the light of the record, thus briefly summarized, that one can estimate the value of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg's protestations that Germany never desired anything but to be left alone, but that the allies invaded her rights, attacked her and undertook the task of destroying her existence, and forced her to draw the sword in order to preserve her national life and the integrity of her territory.

TWO-HANDED HOLLAND

(Baltimore American)

Obeying the prophet when he exhorts to be ready to labor with both hands earnestly Holland has rolled up its sleeves and is standing in the dikes prepared to fight for the country that is poetized as the beautiful spoil of the sea. If by land or sea the enemy come, to hark back to Paul Revere's signals in the old church steeple, the word will be flashed to the nation and in either direction the foe will be valorously attacked.

The most vigorous, brave and respected defender of neutrality among the neutral nations—most of which are flabby in their defense of their rights—Holland stands ready to defend to the last drop of its blood its right to stand aloof from the war. So that if the Allies seek to violate its territory they will have a warm reception. If the Germans do so they will meet with a greeting too earnest to be fraternal. And it may be said, without fear of discount, that Holland will preserve its neutrality. Neither Teuton nor Entente will seek to invade a land where at the drop of hat the nation has been mobilized and is ready in a moment to put up a fight that will surpass by the degree of better preparedness that of Belgium. All honor to Holland, and may the spirit of the liberty-loving and brave Dutch rebuke the pusillanimity of the Americans!

NEWS OF THE DAY

Twelve and a half inches of snow fell last night at Ottawa, Ont.,

The first married men under the group system were called up yesterday by the British war office. They range from 25 to 32 years of age.

Northern New York is in the grip of an April blizzard. Five inches of snow fell during Thursday night. It was still snowing yesterday, with a strong northwest wind, causing drifts.

Hurrying through a blinding snowstorm, Stanley Glaze, 21 years old, and Logan McCarty, 22 years old, drove their buggy in front of a fast New York train on the Chesapeake and Ohio tracks near Lexington, Ky., yesterday and both were killed.

Following a battle between revenue officers and moonshiners at Crank's Creek in Harlan county, Ky., Washington Garrett, considered by the officers to be the most notorious moonshiner in the state was killed.

Wrenching his foot free from the clasp of his wife, L. B. Cunningham, of St. Louis a traveling salesman, threw himself from a third-story window of the New Howard Hotel, Baltimore, yesterday afternoon and was almost instantly killed. Cunningham had been a prey to melancholia.

Warren G. Harding, United States Senator from Ohio, will call the Republican national convention to order and make the "keynote" speech when the gathering assembles in Chicago, June 7. Senator Harding was unanimously chosen temporary chairman of the convention by the subcommittee of the national committee at a brief meeting in Chicago yesterday.

A well dressed, middle-aged man committed suicide yesterday morning at Ambiersburg, W. Va., a small station on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad a few miles west of Terra Alta, by placing his head on the rail as a eastbound freight train was coming down the Cranberry grade. He was decapitated. His identity has not been established.

Dr. J. B. Hingley, secretary of the board of conference claimants of the Methodist Episcopal Church, wired yesterday to Chicago, from New York announcing a gift of $40,000 from an unknown donor in the New York East Conference, and another of $1,000 from a second anonymous giver, both going toward a $10,000,000 endowment fund for retired ministers. Other donations totaling $15,000 were announced. Six million of the fund has been raised.

How the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, of Brooklyn, is alleged to have strayed from the high ideals which he so eloquently expressed, is set fourth in the accounting, filed yesterday of Frank L. Ferguson's stewardship of the minister's tangled financial affairs. Dr. Hillis is painted as money-eager, a reckless plunger in coal and timber speculations, a deceiver of his friends, and finally as hopelessly involved in a mesh of financial deals and threatened with innumerable lawsuits.

Giuseppe Arichiello, who got $100 for shooting Barnet Baff in New York, in 1914, was convicted of murder in the first degree yesterday before Justice Shearn, in the Supreme Court, criminal term in New York. The defendant, who will be sentenced next week, took the verdict coolly, but his sister-in-law, Anna Arichiello was taken from the court house screaming that he was not guilty. Frank Ferrara, who drove the murder car, and who, according to Arichiello, got $150, will be called for trial on Monday.

The assertion is made by the Echo Belge of Amsterdam, that Miss Gabrielle Petit, of Molenbeck, Belgium, has been put to death by Germans after trial by court-martial on a charge of treason. It is alleged she conducted an information bureau in the interest of Germany's enemies. The newspaper also states that Louise de Bettignies, of Lille, has been sentenced to death, but that the sentence has been commuted to imprisonment for life. Another woman, Marie van Houtte, the newspaper says, has been sentenced to imprisonment for 15 years.

The independence of Canton, China, was formally declared Thursday after a conference of military and naval officers and leading citizens with Lung Chi-Kuang, the Governor of Kwang-Tung Province. No fighting took place.

The secession is considered important, observers of the situation looking upon it as indicative of the probable downfall of Yuan Shi Kai, It is expected to lead to the defection of other southern provinces and strengthen the hands of the southern leaders in their reiterated demand for Yuan's retirement and the reinstitution of the Napking constitution.

VIRGINIA NEWS

A heavy snow fell yesterday in Wytheville, and everything is as white as any time during the winter. The mercury registered 32 degrees.

The heaviest snow in many years for this season is falling throughout the Christianburg section.

W. B. Brown, an old resident of Rockymount, Va., and a former member of the State Senate, was instantly killed, when an automobile, driven by Thomas Smith, of Danville, was overturned yesterday.

Dr. F. R. Thomas, a Danville, dentist, was exonerated of a charge of assault on Mrs. Mary E. Scarce after a police court trial yesterday. The woman charged that the doctor had put his arms around her and kissed her after treating her teeth on March 22, and she told her story in full at the hearing, which was held privately. The dentist made a sweeping denial of the charge brought against him and said that the woman had talked incessantly of religion while at his office, her husband being minister of the Holiness Church, at Newtown, a suburb of Schoolfield.

Near Manteo, in Buckingham county, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Bennett Branch, 65 years old, was attacked in her home by a negro, whose purpose was robbery. When she declined to disclose the hiding place of a small sum of money, the negro slashed her throat with a knife, and her condition is precarious. Mrs. Branch, who was left for dead by the negro, revived sufficiently to give his name and description to neighbors, with the result that Mincie Harris was arrested, as he was preparing to board a train to flee the county.

Henry Byrd, colored, was shot near Churchland in the vicinity of Norfolk Thursday night, by Henry A. Williams, overseer for John T. Griffin. Byrd was wounded in the stomach and died within a short time. A coroner's jury, returned a verdict which merely fixed the manner of his death. After the shooting Williams surrendered and was admitted to $5,000 bail. The shooting occurred near the Griffin home. From what information could be gathered, Byrd, who was intoxicated, was going about the farm with a gun. Williams took the weapon from him, and then Byrd is alleged to have rushed him. The overseer backed off, it is said, warning Byrd, who continued to rush him. Then Williams fired.

Miss Virgie Cook, 16 years old, who came to Hagerstown, Md., from Eden Va., four weeks ago with a man, who she said, promised to marry her attempted to commit suicide late Thursday night at a boarding house in Hagerstown by taking poison. Her condition is serious. Shortly after her arrival her companion left her, promising to send her money. Miss Cook has heard nothing of him since. Three weeks ago Miss Cook was summoned to the police station upon complaint of her boarding house mistress There she told the story of her leaving home with the man under a promise of marriage. She refused to return to her home, stating she would commit suicide rather than let her parents know her condition.

Judge Holt, of Staunton, was designated yesterday by Governor Stuart to preside for Judge Thornton, of Prince William, over the trial of the cases growing out of the alleged defalcations in the office of the clerk of that county. The trial will begin at Manassas next Thursday. Captain J. E. Herrell, formerly clerk of Prince William county, was indicted for irregularities in the handling of the public funds. The charge, it is understood, so weighed on his mind that it caused his death before the case could come to trial. R. E. Herrell, son of the clerk and a deputy in his office, was likewise indicted. His whereabouts are not known. Charges in connection with the irregularities are pending against W. W. Harrison and M. S. Ryckman.

APPLE PIE PASTRY.

4 cupfuls of flour, 1 cupful of lard, 1 teaspoonful of salt, ½ cupful of cold water.

Sift flour and salt into mixing bowl. Rub in shortening with tips of fingers until contents of bowl are in a granular state, like meal. Take out two cupfuls of this dry mixture and set aside. Add water slowly to dry mixture in bowl and make into a dough a little softer than for ordinary pastry. Turn paste on molding board and pat and roll lightly to one-fourth inch in thickness. Now spread this sheet of paste with one cupful of the dry mixture. Fold as for puff paste and pat and roll again into a sheet one-fourth of an inch thick. Spread with the second cup of the dry mixture and fold again as for puff paste, pat and roll into sheet one-fourth of an inch thick and then roll this sheet like a jelly roll. The pastry is now ready to be made into pies, tarts or wherever pastry is used. Do not unroll to use, but cut straight through in one and one-half inch slices.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Thedford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whittaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble.

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Thedford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.

Your druggist sells and recommends Black-Draught. Price only 25c. Get a package to-day. N.C 42

A MERCILESS JUDGE

One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from an Alexandria resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

H. C. Smith, tailor, 919 1-2 King St., Alexandria; says: "I can't begin to describe the agony I suffered with my back. It was impossible for me to find a cure until I began using Dona's Kidney Pills. They cured me in less than a month and today, I am as free from backache as if I never had it."

The above statement was given on November 3, 1910 and on April 10, 1915; Mr. Smith said: "It has been over three years since I was cured of kidney disorders by Doan's Kidney Pills. I consider them a very fine medicine for kidney trouble and never hesitate to recommend them."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy— get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Smith had. Foster Mill. burn Ca., Prop., Buffalo, N. Y.
